THE RIVERSIDE ROBBERS—Word from Florence is to the effect that Sam Enley followed the two robbers that held up the saloon in Riverside, as far as the saw mill in the Pinal mountains and there he lost the trail.

INDIAN STUDENTS—A carload of Indian children returned on yesterday morning's train from the north to resume their studies at the Phoenix Indian school. Most of them have been visiting their parents on the reservations during the vacation.

FRANK BASTAIN FOUND—Reference was made by The Republican a few days ago to the sudden disappearance of Frank Bastain of Bisbee, who it was feared had wandered into the hills and committed suicide. A later report from Bisbee announces that he was found in the Copper Queen hospital.

LABOR DAY—This is Labor Day. All public business will be suspended and all the banks will be closed. The day is observed in all the states and was made by congress a holiday for the District of Columbia and has been construed to be a legal holiday in the territory. There is no territorial enactment on the subject and Labor Day was not mentioned by the late legislature when it prepared a list of legal holidays for the territory. It was not necessary to do so, though it would perhaps have been better to include it. It is a holiday, therefore, which requires no proclamation by the governor.

IT WAS DONE PROMPTLY—Acting Governor Stoddard has made quick work of the distribution of the revised statutes. The carload of books was received here on August 18th. On the following Monday, the 19th, they became the property of the territory, and by Saturday night, August 21st, one had been sent to every justice of the peace in the territory, every member of the legislature, every district attorney and board of supervisors and to every other person designated by the statutes as entitled to a free copy. There have been sold 165 copies, and the proceeds, $225, will be turned over to the territorial treasurer tomorrow. There are other officials who may receive free copies under the law defining the duties of the secretary, but that has not yet been finally determined.

GONE UP HIGHER—Not dead but got a better job. That's Mr. Henry Baswitz, who has secured a position as traveling salesman for Levi Strauss & company of San Francisco. The departure of Mr. Baswitz was announced yesterday.

in yesterday morning's paper but it was a mistake. He did not go out this morning. And now that he has gone it is not out of the way to remark that he will be missed by a large number of Phoenix friends who have known him intimately for the last five years as a most capable and accommodating salesman for Goldberg Bros. He has been in the mercantile business all his life and understands it from beginning to end. While he will be missed here he will doubtless prove a valuable man to his new employers and in the line of his work he will in all probability pay Phoenix an occasional visit though his territory has not yet been assigned to him. His family will remain here until he is located.

A PHOENIX HERO—W. D. Simmons of the Phoenix fire department returned home Saturday morning from a month's visit to his old home in Mississippi. He stayed pretty close to the home place for the reason that the Gulf of Mexico was on a jamboree about that time and he did not like to trust himself too close to so much water. On the road home he became a hero. Not that he was seeking glory, but a Phoenix fireman is liable to become a hero most any time, and he would not run away from his duty even if he knew it would make a hero of him. Just this side of the Hutton pass a fire broke out in the vestibule between two coaches. It probably started from a cinder, but Billy did not stop to inquire. While the occupants of the coaches were running in every direction in search of the conductor Billy stood bravely on the burning deck for a minute, and then grabbed the water cooler in the Pullman and dashed its contents on the fire. By the time the trainmen arrived on the scene the fire was out and Billy was rolling a cigarette. He apologized to the porter for upsetting the water tank and spent the afternoon in fighting shy of the trainload of people he had saved from death, or anyhow from getting scared. Like all heroes, Billy refuses to talk, and this story was told on him by other Phoenix people who were on the train. A fire just simply can't burn when a Phoenix fireman is around.

TROUBLE ON SOUTH SEVENTH

In Which Guns Were Used for Billies

There was trouble last night at the Redlight saloon, on South Seventh street, regarding which there are conflicting stories, and ad that can be definitely stated in the matter previous to the court hearing, is the fact that the two Magnani brothers, who conduct the Redlight, are held in $100 cash bond each on the charge of interfering with an officer. Incidentally to the affair, a Mexican was arrested for drunkenness. Constable Porter arrested a woman for indecent exposure while in the act of jumping a rope on the sidewalk lightly clad, and the night before Officer Lawrence placed two girls under arrest for interfering around the Redlight and also notified one of the proprietors to appear in police court and answer the charge of interfering with him. These facts are all the records show, and there are enough of them to mix things up considerably. The story as told by the police is that when Officer Lawrence arrested the two women on Saturday night one of the Magnani brothers tried to send the girls to their rooms and the officer on duty of the house. The officer then placed him under arrest for interfering, allowing him to go on his own recognizance, and while these negotiations were in progress the girls escaped. But they were later told to appear and allowed to go on their own recognizance.

This incident, the police say, left the proprietors in an unfriendly mood toward them. Officers Russell and Porter appeared there last evening about dusk and found the sidewalk full of people. They noticed one Mexican who was drunk and noisy and placed him under arrest. The story of the police is that one of the Magnani attempted to interfere with the arrest of the Mexican, Officer Russell told him not to, and the said proprietor grabbed the officer, and the officer retaliated by hitting him on the head with his gun. The other brother then, he said, came to the rescue, and Officer Porter hit him with his gun. By that time the patrol wagon and Captain Bush were on the scene, the Mexican, who had in the mean time hit out, was hauled up, and, with the two brothers, was taken to the station, where all were released on bail, the Mexican being turned over to his friends to sober up.

An unfortunate incident occurred while the men were being loaded into the patrol wagon. They naturally offered some resistance, and Officer Porter, who was near by, came to the front. Officer Porter, thinking he was going to take the part of the accused saloon keepers, pulled his gun on Officer Porter, who very naturally did not run up against it. Mr. Porter, when asked regarding this incident, said that he came forward and offered the police his services, at the same time telling the Magnani brothers that as they were under arrest the thing to do was to quietly submit.

Constable Porter had arrested his rope jumping girl just previous to the encounter between the police and the Magnani. His version of that incident is that the crowd was attracted to the sidewalk by her antics. He says Officer Russell shortly after told Magnani to clear the sidewalk. The reply was that he was in front of his own property and as for the crowd he had nothing to do with it. Officer Porter says the officer was too hasty in the arrest of the saloon keeper, and that he was mistaken in the belief that Magnani was interfering; that he did not take hold of the officer, but merely remonstrated with him.

COMING VAUDEVILLE.

Manager Frank Steehan of the Park theater announces the engagement of the celebrated Miller Brothers Comedians, which includes the leading comedy stars of the universe, commencing Monday, September 9th: "Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Grimes," late principal comedians of the "May Irwin Company" of the Bijou theater of New York city and for three years leading fun makers at the Victoria theater in New York city, who are regarded as the funniest artists in the theatrical profession; the great and only "Cyrene," the best endorsed and most famous danseuse in the world; the only dancer who has ever had the honor of a professional appearance in the White House, Washington, D. C.; also one of the greatest novelties in the amusement world, Young Shore Acres, a tiny little lot less than five years old, headed by Artie St. Claire. This diminutive comedian in the most comical costumes presents all the newest and up to date jokes. The fashion plate of song and dance, Mr. Ben D. Noonan, will present only the very latest songs. Manager Steehan says that this is not the biggest show on earth, but is composed of all stars who have appeared in all the leading fashion theaters in the east and who are engaged to appear at the Orpheum in San Francisco and Los Angeles, where only the best artists are allowed to appear, immediately after their Phoenix engagement. Manager Steehan has resolved to maintain his established Park theater prices of 10, 20 and 30 cents. Reserved seats will be on sale at Goodman's drug store.

Jacksonville Record

(From The Coast Review for August, 1901.)

The Norwich Union is exhibiting to agents its Jacksonville fire record with a good deal of pride, and well it may, for the record is truly a remarkable one. The company was one of the heaviest losers in the great fire, and not from any underwriting fault either, as with total losses of $281,156, not more than $10,000 was in any one block bounded by four streets. The company had 245 losses in the fire, and on May 23 its general adjuster, Willis O. Robb, and Special Agent Carpenter arrived on the ground. They returned to their homes June 3, having disposed of all the losses at the rate of about 22 per day. By June 29 all the losses were paid. Of the 245 losses paid, 183 were on fire claims. And the starch foreigner is not discouraged—Western Underwriter.

We are sole agents for this and seven other Fire Insurance Companies whose records for paying losses are just as good.

A FINE STOCK OF WOOLLENS.

There is an attractive display of fine woollens in Nicholson's tailor's show window, and by the appearance of his stock it seems as though he has got in a carload of woollens. Mr. Nicholson says they were selected from the finest woolen houses in America, and that the outlook for his business is very flattering. His store is all papered and fixed up in first-class style, all ready for a good fall and winter business. His woollens are of the very finest designs of imported suitings and trousers.
